Dear Dr Anastassoadi

The International Einstein Award for Scientific Achievement
~Iconic Achievers~

To become an Iconic Achiever, to scale the heights from which you inspire and to lead by the standards you have attained are no ordinary accomplishments and have led to your just and deserving arrival at this point. I am pleased to have been observing for at least some of the journey.

The raison d'être of the International Biographical Centre, Dr Anastassoadi, is to discover, acknowledge, publicise and reward individuals of potential and proficiency. I am happy to say that none of this has been necessary in your case - we merely pay homage in a unique way to one of the brightest stars in our firmament. The Awards Board of the IBC are proud to bestow on you, as an Icon within the field of science, the auspicious and beautiful International Einstein Award for Scientific Achievement. We trust you will accept this with the humility for which you are known.

The enclosed literature describes this stunning testament to achievement in more detail but in this personal announcement letter I would merely like to say the following: the iconic Albert Einstein is widely regarded as one of the greatest physicists of them all. His many contributions to physics include his special theory of relativity, which reconciled mechanics with electromagnetism, and his general theory of relativity. In wider culture the name "Einstein" has become synonymous with genius. I feel most reassured then, that by selecting you as a recipient of the International Einstein Award for Scientific Achievement in recognition of your varied talents recognised by all, we are keeping to the register of his memory, reputation and the generosity of his work.

Your avocation, enthusiasm and reputation are responsible for this magnificent recognition. I sincerely hope you accept this opportunity and when you do I shall be delighted to authorise the commissioning of your unique hand-finished International Einstein Award for Scientific Achievement, bearing the portrait of the great physicist himself. Further details are given in the accompanying information.
